How you can help

Something missing?

We want to provide the best information we can to help you understand dementia, and are always looking to expand the information we produce.

If you have a question that is not answered in our booklets, or any suggestions for future leaflets, please let us know.

Want to help?

If you would like to help review our health information booklets, we would love to hear from you. Being a health information reviewer for Alzheimer's Research UK only takes up a couple of hours of your time each year, but can make a huge difference to us. If you are interested in helping us in this way, please get in touch.

About us

Alzheimer's Research UK is the UK's leading dementia research charity, funding world-class research to find ways to prevent, treat or cure dementia.

Help us defeat dementia by donating today. Visit our website www.alzheimersresearchuk.org or call 0300 111 5555.

Research

Research

Alzheimer's Research UK has funded over £55 million of pioneering research across the UK into the causes, diagnosis, prevention and treatment of dementia.

Through the work we fund into the causes of dementia, our scientists are building a detailed picture of what happens in the brain in these diseases – essential for developing new approaches to stop it.

We believe that dementia can only be defeated through research. Thanks to the generosity of our supporters, we will continue to nurture and support the ideas of scientists who will take us one step closer to a cure.

Find out more

If you have questions about research or want to get involved, contact the Dementia Research Infoline on 0300 111 5 111 or email infoline@alzheimersresearchuk.org

You can also write to us at the address on the back of this leaflet.

The Infoline operates 9.00-5.00pm Monday to Friday. Calls cost no more than national rate calls to 01 or 02 numbers and should be included in any free call packages. Interpreter services are available.

We are the UK's leading research charity aiming to defeat dementia.

The Power to Defeat Dementia

For many people, the word dementia can be frightening, or it is a topic that is brushed under the carpet. We want to change this by talking about dementia, what causes it, risk factors, symptoms, diagnosis and treatments.

We think that everyone should have access to free, accurate and up-to-date information about dementia.

Alzheimer’s Research UK is the UK’s leading dementia research charity and we are dedicated to helping people understand more about dementia and the progress our scientists are making to tackle it.

As a certified member of the Information Standard, we regularly review our booklets, and seek input from expert clinicians, people with dementia and those caring for them. This ensures our health information is clear, easy to understand, relevant and medically accurate.

Take a look at the leaflets we produce and request your free copies by filling in the reply slip or giving us a call on 0300 111 5555. If you would like a copy with references or in another language, please ask.

All of our information is also available to read or download online. Visit our website to find out more: www.alzheimersresearchuk.org

Our free booklets:

All about dementia

This comprehensive booklet gives an overview of Alzheimer’s disease and other forms of dementia, their symptoms, causes and diagnosis. There is also information about how to reduce your risk of dementia.

Alzheimer’s and memory loss

Worried about your memory? This short leaflet covers some of the early symptoms of Alzheimer’s and where to go if you are concerned.

Alzheimer’s and dementia: your questions answered

There are many myths surrounding dementia and what may or may not affect our risk of developing it. This booklet looks at the scientific evidence behind some of these claims, helping you to unravel the truth.

Treatments for dementia

This comprehensive booklet covers the treatments available for dementia, how they work and their side-effects.

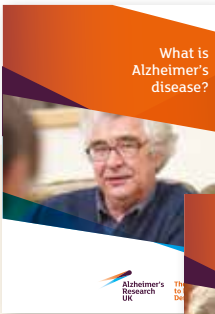

Early-onset Alzheimer’s disease

This short leaflet discusses the symptoms of a rarer form of Alzheimer’s which affects people under the age of 65.

Genes and dementia

While there are many risk factors for dementia, with age being the biggest, many people are concerned about whether the condition can run in families. This booklet gives an overview of genetics and the role our genes can play in the diseases that cause dementia.

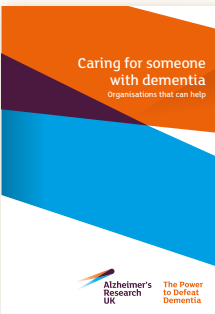

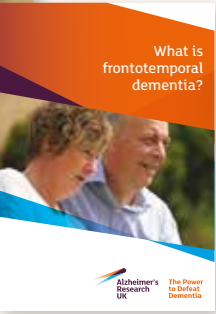

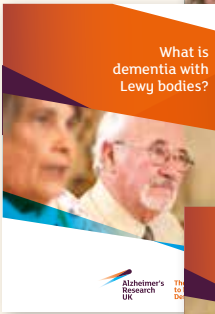

What is Alzheimer’s disease?

What is vascular dementia?

What is dementia with Lewy bodies?

What is frontotemporal dementia?

These individual leaflets focus on four specific causes of dementia, giving background on their symptoms, causes, risk factors, diagnosis and treatment.

Caring for someone with dementia: organisations that can help

This handy booklet provides a list of organisations that can provide help and support to people with dementia, their families, friends and carers. Contact details are included, as well as further information about the services provided.
